Dear Colleague:

I am writing to ask you to support the Robert Bosch Foundation Fellowship Program by helping us to identify well-qualified candidates for the Program's fourth year, 1987-88. If you know a young person or persons who might be interested in the kind of experience the Fellowship offers, please pass along the information and application form I've enclosed. We hope you agree that the Bosch Foundation Fellowship has the potential to make a lasting positive contribution to better understanding and cooperation between the United States and Western Europe, at the same time as it offers Fellows outstanding career-training opportunities in West German government and business.

Enclosed here is also a brochure just published by the Bosch Foundation which describes the basic structure of the Program and presents a few of the highlights of the second year, 1985-86. Pictures of the Fellows of that year appear as well, together with brief biographies; the wide variety of educational and professional backgrounds represented reflects the Foundation's broad interest in fostering relations between the U.S. and West Germany in both professional and public life.

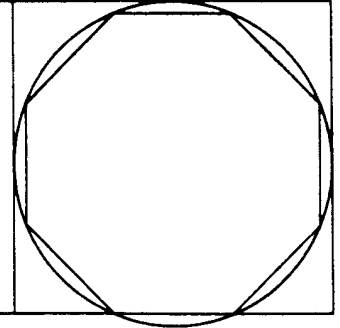

We very much appreciate your efforts to encourage well-qualified young professionals and students to apply. Completed applications must be received no later than 15 October 1986. If you have any questions about the Fellowship or would like additional sets of application materials, please don't hesitate to call or write to the Carl Duisberg Society. The application form may be photocopied for distribution, if you wish. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

David Schluckebier
Program Officer

The Robert Bosch Foundation of Stuttgart, Federal Republic of Germany, is pleased to announce that applications are now being accepted for the fourth year of its Fellowship Program for Young American Professional Leadership, 1987/88.

The goal of this Fellowship Program is to familiarize young American professionals and executives with the political, economic and cultural environment of Europe in general and the Federal Republic of Germany especially. Candidates for the Program will be competitively chosen from the fields of business administration, economics, journalism and mass communications, law, political science, and public affairs. The Fellowship is made available to fifteen outstanding young professionals each year.

In the Federal Republic of Germany, the Fellows will be placed in internships appropriate to their professional fields for four months in federal level government and four months in state level government or with a private corporation. The Fellowship Program will be supplemented by a one-month introductory seminar in Bonn and visits later to Berlin, Paris and the headquarters of the European Community and NATO in Brussels.

Transportation costs to and from Germany, and living expenses while in Germany, will be covered by a generous stipend from the Bosch Foundation.

With the implementation of this Fellowship Program for Americans, the Robert Bosch Foundation, one of the largest corporate foundations in the Federal Republic of Germany (established in 1962), continues to strive for its long-standing goal of furthering international understanding.

The U.S. representative for the Robert Bosch Foundation Fellowship Program is the Carl Duisberg Society, Inc. (CDS), a private, non-profit organization which was established in New York in 1968. The Carl Duisberg Society promotes the interests of international business and industry through its programs for international professional training.

The Robert Bosch Foundation Fellowship Program will begin in September 1987 and run through May 1988. Applications must be received by the Carl Duisberg Society not later than October 15, 1986.

For application materials and further information about the Fellowship Program, the Robert Bosch Foundation or the Carl Duisberg Society, please call or write to: David Schluckebier, Program Officer, Robert Bosch Foundation Fellowship Program, c/o The Carl Duisberg Society, Inc., 425 Park Avenue, 27th Floor, New York, NY 10022, telephone: 212/593-3004 (or: 212/593-3030).
